This Year's Dedication:

Ms. Sharon Lee

Ms. Sharon Lee

During their four years at Lick, students have many decisions to make. One of the most important is choosing which classes to take and when. The first week of school is often one of the most hectic times of the year because students are frantically rearranging their classes and finalizing their schedules. There is only one person behind the scenes of all this chaos, who works constantly to make everyone's schedule as close to perfect as possible - and she does an amazing job. Ms. Sharon Lee is in charge of organizing all of the faculty, staff, and student schedules. She spends countless hours each year juggling 9 blocks, almost 400 students, and an everlasting pile of request forms. Yet somehow she manages to make everyone happy. This book is dedicated to her in honor of her hard work and devotion to the school.

Mrs. Lee's work does not end with scheduling, she does much more. She has been a part of Lick's community for 18 years. In the 1980's she was one of the founders of the computer program at Lick. She still teaches Intro to Computers and AP Computer Science. Ms. Lee shows her support for students by attending tons of sports games throughout the year. And she has been involved with Asia Club for many years. Outside of Lick's doors, she serves on the AP reading board and ushers for the opera. Lick would not be the same without her, and we greatly appreciate everything she does.

WAR ON TERROR

American crusade'

AMERICA UNDER ATTACK

WAR ON TERRORISM

Tragedy brings nation together

"I have a lot of anxiety right now and it's sad that we are experiencing what happens in other countries everyday."

"I don't know if we have become stronger but I hope so. I hope this helps us get our priorities straight, both personally and as a nation."

"They were unexpected, they were well planned and organized, and they had a specific purpose. They were trying to tell the U.S.. something and obviously felt that violent means were the only way to do so. But rather than trying to understand their message, the U.S. has simply responded by lashing back."

"I think that we have become more fearful of the unknown."

We Remember

"We as Americans need to sit back and think about why the rest of the world hates us and why someone would do this to us. Killing more people and destroying other countries is not going to make things better."

"War does not bring a country together, it tears it apart."

"I am not in favor of bombing or war, but at the same time i don't have any better ideas on how to stop terrorism. Is there a way to stop the Taliban without killing innocent people? If there is, that's what I am in favor of."

"I think we have become a more united country because we have all finally had to ask our selves what it means to be an American."

I'd play for free and work for food.
It is the game, the parks,

The first light ugly and more muscular than the dark
Pushing poems at the urban silence

Sitting on the curb, combining traffic sounds

All the chance that I need
Is one in a million, and they can call me brilliant
If I succeed.

School requires Time and Money

$$\text{School} = \text{Time} * \text{Money}$$

We all know that "Time is Money"

$$\text{Time} = \text{Money}$$

So:

$$\text{School} = \text{Money} * \text{Money} = \text{Money}^2$$

Ever, "Money is the root of all Evil"

$$\text{Money} = \sqrt{\text{Evil}}$$

Therefore

$$\text{School} = (\sqrt{\text{Evil}})^2$$

$$\text{School} = \text{Evil}$$

stone is more stony than it used to be. - in general we no longer understand music. we have architecture; at least we do not do so nearly as well as we understand music. we have grown out of the symbolism of lines and figures, just as we understand have weaned ourselves from the sound effects of rhetoric, and no longer imbibe this kind of cultural mother's milk from the first moment of our lives. everything in a greek or christian building originally signified something, and indeed something of a higher order of things: this feeling of inexhaustible significance lay about the building like a magical veil. beauty entered this system only incidentally, without essentially encroaching upon the fundamental sense of the uncanny and EXALTED, of consecration by MAGI. the proximity of the divine at least (most beauty) mitigated the dread by MITIGATED THE DREAD-- but this dread was everywhere the presupposition. =+ what is the beauty of a building today? The same thing as the beautiful face of a mindless woman: something MASK LIKE.

Q.Y.S

The mission of QYS is to provide support and community to young people questioning their sexual identity or who have declared their identity as other than heterosexual. No assumptions are made regarding why students choose to participate, students only ask that no one be there as a straight "observer." The number of students attending group meetings varies from week to week.

col-o-phon (kl-fn, -fn)

n.

1. An inscription placed usually at the end of a book, giving facts about its publication.

This book was developed using Adobe Pagemaker 6.5 on 5 1/2 Macintosh G3 computers in the Yearbook Studio (aka "Teacher Training Center") at Lick-Wilmerding High School. With the exception of some sporting events and theatrical productions, most photos were taken with one of three Olympus digital cameras, then adjusted and cropped using Adobe Photoshop 5.0. Photos, prints and some Senior Pages were scanned at a minimum resolution of 300 dpi using the Epson Expression 1680 scanner. Most fonts are various sizes of the AWP variety, proprietary fonts from our publishing company.

The yearbook staff consisted of 24 students first semester, and 20 second semester, working on 5 computers. They faced cramped quarters, hectic deadline-driven assignments, chaotic conditions, and all with very little recognition. It's not a glamorous job, and it certainly isn't an easy job trying to document a year's worth of events, activities, names and faces, clubs, advising groups, etc. So if you see a few errors here and there and it really bothers you, sign up for yearbook next year and help make it the book you want it to be!

ms. hellyer thanks...

A few thanks to Robert Sanborn, Rachel Been, Lake Ziwa and Syline Chin (and anyone else) who contributed photos of various events to the book. Also, special thanks to Shelly Townsend, our publishing representative, who has always been there to help!

This is my last year at LWHS. I want to thank all the students and faculty-friends who showed me their best, and inspired me to show mine; to the special forces on yearbook staff who actually made it happen, to my awesome drawing students, to my beloved advisees who embody so many approaches to life, to all my video stars who I hope will continue to construct (and deconstruct) media, to QYS and GSA kids—you are TOO cool for school, and finally to the Tech & Design Department, an amazing group of talented and passionate artists/teachers.

(Five days after 9/11/01, my Grandma turned 100. 3 months later, I put my 17 1/2 year-old cat Jasper to sleep. I'm sure we've all been thinking about how (and with whom) we spend our time. Life is a precious journey. I'm lucky to have pulled over, and will now be pulling out (along with the class of '02!) Don't forget to stop along the way and drop me a line. I know there will be stories to tell...

Peace! Karen Hellyer

YEAR IN REVIEW

01-02

Much like Dec. 7, 1941 (the attack on Pearl Harbor), Sept. 11, 2001 also became "a day that will live in infamy."

At 8:48 a.m., a hijacked American Airlines commercial jetliner crashes into one of New York City's World Trade Center towers. At 9:05, a second plane crashes into the second tower.

As people try to evacuate, the impact and heat from the crash cause the first tower to tumble to the ground in enormous clouds of smoke and debris. The second tower collapses shortly thereafter, leaving nothing but ash, rubble and destruction for miles where one of our nation's greatest landmarks once stood.

▲ At 9:40 a.m., a third hijacked plane flies into the Pentagon, and within the hour, a fourth crashes near a wooded area in western Pennsylvania. More than 4,200 lives are lost in total.

▲ The hijackings are part of an intended multitude of terrorist attacks on America headed by Islamic radical and wanted terrorist leader Osama bin Laden and his al Qaeda terrorist network. Bin Laden had been making open threats against America for several years, demanding the U.S. withdraw from the Middle East.

“Today, our fellow citizens, our way of life, our very freedom came under attack...”

Thousands of lives were suddenly ended by evil, despicable acts of terror...The pictures...have filled us with... terrible sadness and a quiet, unyielding sense of anger.”

In an address to the nation, President George W. Bush ▲ demands Afghanistan’s ruling party (the Taliban) hand over bin Laden. The Taliban attempts to negotiate the United States’ demand, saying they will not cooperate without evidence of bin Laden’s involvement in the attacks. Bush states the demand is non-negotiable, and the U.S. will take retaliatory action against Afghanistan if they refuse to hand bin Laden over.

Airlines around the world suffer major setbacks, many declaring bankruptcy. Congress approves an airline assistance package that includes $15 billion in financial aid and a victim’s compensation fund to limit expensive lawsuits that might bankrupt airlines like American and United.

▲ Former Pennsylvania Governor Tom Ridge is appointed by President Bush to head the newly created Office of Homeland Security Cabinet post, which involves coordinating and creating a strategic plan for homeland defense against future terrorist attacks.

“And tonight, the United States makes the following demands on the Taliban...These demands are not open to negotiation or discussion...This is the world’s fight...the fight of all who believe in progress...tolerance, and freedom...We will rally the world to this cause by our efforts, our courage. We will not tire, we will not falter, and we will not fail.”

President Bush announces plans to starve terrorist groups of all money, and signs an order to freeze all U.S. assets of suspected terrorists, ordering financial institutions do the same.

▲ After repeated refusals from the Taliban to turn over bin Laden, the U.S. and allied British forces begin launching air strikes on Afghan cities, military targets and terrorist camps.

▲ The U.S. continues bombing Afghan cities, while at the same time dropping food packages, called Humanitarian Daily Rations (or HDRs), from planes to help Afghan refugees at risk for starvation.

The World Health Organization warns Western governments to be on the alert for attacks using chemical and biological warfare.

◀ Osama bin Laden is the leader of al Qaeda, a worldwide network of terrorists, and is America's most wanted terrorist suspect. ▲ The discovery of letters containing anthrax in several states other than Florida (including D.C., N.J., N.Y., Ind., Mo., and Va.) raises the fear of bioterrorism. Traces of anthrax turn up in postal facilities around the country, and two Washington, D.C. postal workers die from the inhalation variety of the bacteria. Authorities are unable to pinpoint the letters' source, and are unsure whether they are connected to the al Qaeda terrorist attacks.

President Bush signs an anti-terrorism bill into law, giving police and intelligence agencies new powers against terrorism, including stronger penalties for harboring or financing terrorists, an increase in the number of crimes considered terrorist acts and tougher punishments for committing them. The bill also gives police new rights to secretly search people's homes and business records and to eavesdrop on suspect telephone or computer conversations.

The Bush Administration faces accusations from many that the array of new tactics implemented with the anti-terrorism bill, including military tribunals (trials held in secret in which the judges are military officers, a two-thirds vote is enough to convict, and there is no need for proof beyond a reasonable doubt), are the worst infringement on civil liberties in decades.

▲ About 1,000 U.S. Marines move into Afghanistan to tighten the squeeze on remaining Taliban and al Qaeda leaders by limiting their movements from Kandahar, Afghanistan's second largest city and center of trade.

The Taliban surrenders the city of Kandahar, their last major stronghold. The city falls to looters after the last Taliban fighters flee the area.

▲ An American is discovered among Taliban prisoners after a violent prison revolt that killed hundreds of the prisoners as well as an American CIA officer. John Walker Lindh, a 20-year-old non-Afghan Taliban fighter (originally from California), said he joined the Taliban six months earlier after converting to Islam and "jihadi" (fighter of holy wars). Walker is returned to the U.S. to face four criminal charges, including conspiracy to kill Americans abroad. Prosecutors consider other evidence that could carry the death penalty.

▲ A videotape is acquired by the Pentagon, showing Osama bin Laden boasting of his involvement in the Sept. 11 attacks, and rejoicing in the level of devastation "achieved" by the terrorists aboard the planes, some of whom did not even know what kind of mission they were on until they boarded the planes.

The U.S. military ▲ sends al Qaeda prisoners to a prison in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The detainees are questioned for information pertaining to the Sept. 11 attacks, the whereabouts of bin Laden and other attacks that may have been planned.

As the war on terrorism continues, the U.S. rallies the support of the international community. Taking the intelligence gained from prisoners as well as investigations at home, America turns attention to other terrorist havens around the world, such as Abu Sayyaf, a terrorist group in the Philippines allegedly connected with the al Qaeda network. ■

Groups

International Front for Fighting Jews and Crusades

This is a large coalition of groups dedicated to killing Americans and destroying U.S. interests worldwide. It was formed by Osama bin Laden in 1998, and includes al Qaeda (also founded by bin Laden), a network of small terrorist cells operating independently around the world, dedicated to overthrowing Middle Eastern rulers and removing westerners from Muslim countries.

The International Front is partnered with the Egyptian Islamic Jihad, or "Al Jihad." This group was established in the 1970s with the aim of overthrowing the Egyptian government and setting up an Islamic state. The group's leadership is divided between those who favor violent means and those who favor more peaceful means, particularly against U.S. targets.

Northern Alliance

The Northern Alliance is an Afghanistan rebel faction that has actively opposed the Taliban for five years. Prior to the fall of the Taliban, the Northern Alliance claimed five percent of Afghanistan, while the Taliban controlled the other 95 percent.

Abu Sayyaf

Abu Sayyaf is a smaller Islamist group fighting to establish an Iranian-style Islamic state in Mindanao, an island in the southern Philippines. The group, whose name means, "Bearer of the Sword," has ties to a number of Islamic fundamentalist organizations around the world, including Osama bin Laden's al Qaeda and Ramzi Yousef, an individual convicted of organizing the 1993 bombing of the World Trade Center in New York City. Abu Sayyaf has a membership of approximately several hundred young Islamic radicals, many of whom were recruited from universities and high schools.

I.S.A.F. (Internal Security Assistance Force)

Also called the "peacekeepers," the I.S.A.F. was developed after the collapse of the Taliban to help keep peace in Afghanistan during the interim government's establishment. The peacekeepers consist of British Royal Marines as well as troops sent in by France.
